

Socialists Seek Recount of Vote
For Alderman Lee

Also Planning Contest in 16th District, Where Edward Cassidy Lost by 50
Votes on Face of Returns

Algermon Lee, leader of the Socialists in the Board of Aldermen, said last night that steps were being taken to ask for a recount of the vote in the 8th Aldermanic district, where he lost on the face of the returns by 256, and in the 16th, where Edward Cassidy, the socialist campaigner, lost by about fifty votes on the face of the returns.

Commenting last night on the experience of the Socialists on Tuesday, Mr. Lee said:

"The result in the 8th district, even as it appears on the face of the returns, is more favorable than I had dared to expect. A year ago I went through a hard-fought campaign in the 16th Congressional district, which includes a considerable part of the 8th Aldermanic, and what I saw on election night in 1918 was almost enough to make me lose faith in the practicability of political action. One of our campaign workers was stabbed almost to death; one of our watchers suffered a broken jaw, and many were beaten. In several polling places the electric lights were put out and ready-made ballots substituted for ballots regularly cast, hundreds of socialist ballots were marked or torn by election inspectors during the day, then declared void in the evening; and the temper of the police authorities and the judges on the stand was such that we had absolutely no chance of redress."

"Remembering all this, I feared the socialist would be able to wipe us off the slate this year all over the East Side. I was then pleasantly surprised. There was just as much will to terrorize the voters and to steal their votes this year as there was last year, but they could not get away with the game. For one thing, the war hysteria had died down, and the policeman on duty in the polling places felt free to stand up for law and decency in a way they did not dare to do last year. For another thing, hundreds of socialist workmen who were in the service a year ago are now back home, with soldier experience added to their experience on the picket line, and the Tammany gangster in many districts recognized that if they should start something our boys might finish it."

"On the face of the returns, I am defeated by a margin of 25 out of a total vote of about 1000. I am confident that a recount will turn the tables. There is one election district where seventy of my votes were declared void because the ballots had been torn. In another it is certain that about one hundred votes marked for me were counted for my opponent. There are several other things in the returns which we shall be able to regain from ten to thirty votes if we can get an honest recount, as I believe we shall."

The Tammany law committee, of which Assemblyman Charles D. Donahue is chairman, is still going over the returns of last Tuesday's election with the intention of obtaining a basis for a recount, in the hope that errors may be found that will result in the election of Robert L. Moran as President of the Board of Aldermen in place of Representative P. M. La Guardia, who, on the face of the returns, was elected by 1303.

The Board of Aldermen, sitting as a Board of County Canvassers, will begin the canvass of the vote next Tuesday. They will have a week or two days. It is understood the Tammany law committee will wait until the official returns are in before applying for the court order for a recount.

Jersey Suffragists
Expect Ratification
They Believe the Election of
Edwards Is Equal to a State
Referendum on the Subject

New Jersey suffragists see in the election of Edward I. Edwards as Governor the promise of speedy ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment. Opposition to the amendment has been more intense in New Jersey than in any other Northern state, and was an issue in the recent election. Mr. Edwards, speaking in favor of ratification, and Newton Bush, the defeated Republican candidate, advocating a referendum to the voters.

"We have more than the necessary number of votes pledged in the Legislature, and with Mr. Edwards as Governor we see no possible chance of failure," said Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, yesterday. "The election has been a very fair test of the feeling of the state on the question of woman suffrage. Senator Edwards made a point of stating his position on the question at every meeting at which he spoke, and his opponent let the public clearly understand that he wanted a referendum."

Mrs. Feickert compared the situation in New Jersey with that of Massachusetts, where also there was agitation on the part of the anti-suffragists for a referendum. Calvin A. Coolidge appears to be as much a suffrage hero as he is an anti-strike hero.

Mrs. Feickert continued:

"In 1915 New Jersey's vote on woman suffrage was 42 per cent in favor, while in Massachusetts the percentage in favor was only 34. When the Federal amendment passed the Senate the Massachusetts Legislature was in session and promptly took up the question of ratification. A few faint-hearted legislators suggested a referendum, but Governor Coolidge announced that he would immediately veto any bill for a referendum, adding that the United States Constitution provided that the Legislature should decide the matter of ratification, and that he would not allow it to evade its proper responsibilities—whereupon the Legislature voted to ratify."

"We know Governor Edwards will stand by us as Governor Coolidge stood by the women of Massachusetts, and also feel sure that our friends in both parties will keep the promise they made and that New Jersey will ratify the Federal suffrage amendment in January."

League of Nations
Issue in Election
In Oklahoma Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7.—The league of nations covenant will be an issue in tomorrow's election, to select a successor to the late Joe H. Thompson, Democratic Representative in Congress from the Fifth Oklahoma District. Oklahoma women, voting for the first time in a Congressional election, will help select the new Representative.

Representative Claude Weaver, of Oklahoma City, Democratic nominee, made his support and approval of the league of nations and President Wilson's policies in general, almost the sole plank in his campaign platform.

J. W. Harrell, Republican nominee, made the race on a strictly anti-league platform.

The Fifth Congressional district, composed of seven counties, is normally Democratic with the exception of two counties, which in the past have returned large Republican majorities.

Maryland Candidates
Only 200 Votes Apart:
Reports Not All In

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—With complete official returns of Tuesday's election from all of the counties of the state and twelve of the twenty-eight wards in Baltimore, Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, for Governor, had a plurality of 200 over Harry W. Nice, Republican, according to Democratic tabulations of the official and unofficial vote, in the canvass of the city returns today by election supervisors.

Republican statisticians, however, allowed Ritchie a lead of only 150, and the party's campaign managers insist that the complete city returns will show that Nice is elected. Sixteen Baltimore wards remain to be canvassed.

Negro Regiment Failed in Support Because of Mysterious Message to Withdraw

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Failure of the 388th (negro) Infantry Regiment to function properly in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, which led to the predicament of the famous "Lost Battalion," was due mainly to the fact the negro unit received unauthorized orders to withdraw, according to a special report made to Secretary of War Baker by an officer of the inspector general's staff.

Careful investigation has failed to reveal the origin of the mysterious orders. No such instructions were sent from American headquarters, the report which was made public today said. Company officers had been warned that "no withdrawal order, not in writing and signed by the battalion commander, should be obeyed."

The investigation was ordered by Mr. Baker in order that he might learn all the facts regarding the participation of the 388th Infantry in the action, in view of the severe criticism of the regiment's failure to hold. Allegations were made, the Secretary said, that the morale of the regiment had been broken by race discrimination, that the white officers felt that they were not properly equipped.

With the exception of the criticism relating to equipment, all the charges were unwarranted, the inspector's report said.

For Better Weather

Iona Island Resident, Hearing of Daylight Saving Action, Sends Appeal

Martin R. Kessler, who lives on Iona Island and who may not know that Marcus M. Marks and Bill Carver, and not the Board of Aldermen, were responsible for the city's daylight saving ordinance, yesterday sent the following letter to the board:

"For many months we have had villainous weather. It has been cloudy, rainy and sultry for about four-fifths of the time, and I am writing to ask you, who are more powerful than the Creator of the Universe, who by a single word or stroke of the pen can change the rising and setting of the sun, could not, by your infinite wisdom and power, cause a change and give us some nice, clear, cool autumn weather?"

Mr. Carver, whose aim it is to keep alive public interest in daylight saving, said last night he would see whether Mr. Kessler could not be accommodated.

Moon's Partial Eclipse Visible for Short Time

Earth's Shadow Covers Less Than Third of Satellite's Diameter

A partial eclipse of the moon was visible in New York and other parts of North America last night from a little past 7:30 o'clock. It was visible also in South America, Europe, Africa and Western Asia.

The earth's shadow covered less than one-fifth of the moon's diameter. The moon crossed the eclipse somewhere in the constellation Aries, between PISCES and TAURUS. This is the only eclipse of the moon which takes place this year. There will be two eclipses of the sun.

Mexican Judge Denies Consul's
Complicity in Kidnaping

Jenkins, American Consul Agent at Puebla, Mexico, was cleared of all suspicion of complicity in his recent kidnaping, involving his payment of $50,000 in ransom on the kidnapping, at a hearing conducted in Puebla, and advised from Mexico City today said, Carranza officials expected, according to analysis, that a warrant for the arrest of Jenkins would be issued. Instead of this the judge praised Jenkins as a friend of the Mexican people and a respected member of the community in which he had lived for a number of years.

The State Department announced today the complete story of the Jenkins kidnaping had not yet been received here, and that a full and exhaustive report is expected, both from Jenkins and from the embassy.

Lansing Will Meet Prince at Border: Marshall to Welcome Him in Capital

New York Tribune Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The Prince of Wales will reach Washington next Tuesday and spend three days here as the guest of the American government. The royal visitor will be met at the Canadian border by Secretary of State Lansing and high army and navy officials, and will be brought to Washington on a special train.

Upon reaching the capital the prince and his suite will be officially welcomed at the station by Vice-President Marshall, acting for President Wilson. A military escort will accompany the royal party to the home of Perry Belmont, which has been engaged for his occupancy.

Detailed announcement of the program for the entertainment of the British heir and his party is expected to be made tomorrow by the State Department. A pilgrimage to Mount Vernon to lay a wreath on the tomb of Washington and a trip to Annapolis, where the American naval academy will march before the prince in review, are known to be a part of the program. It is expected that the prince will be received by the President in his sick room, as the royal Belgian family were on their visit here.

The War Department today directed Major General John Biddle, formerly commander of the 4th American troops in Great Britain, to serve as special military aide-de-camp to the prince. At the same time Secretary of the Navy Denies designated Rear Admiral Albert B. Niblack, chief of naval communications, to serve as naval aid to the prince.

Burglar Dean Robbed
And Sing Sing Worries

All Big Bill Mason Has Left Is Desire to Reform and That May Go Next

OSSING, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Sing Sing is worried about "Big Bill" Mason, dean of burglars by virtue of fifty years devoted to the profession.

"Big Bill" is seventy-three years old and was paroled from Sing Sing two weeks ago in the custody of Reformer General Cowan, of the Salvation Army. "Big Bill" departed with a new suit, $25, two pet dogs and an earnest desire to reform.

The grapevine telegraph brought the news today that some upstart crook had robbed "Big Bill" of his new suit, his $25 and his two pet dogs. His friends fear his remaining possession will weaken and perhaps vanish. So Sing Sing is worried about "Big Bill."

With Coroner's Subpoena

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 7.—Ralph Greenleaf, a professional billiard player, and George Worden, his manager, who were detained by Sergeant Frank Virelli, of the state police, last night, by order of Coroner Mix of New Haven, today were permitted to resume their tour. They were detained that the coroner might make inquiries of them in connection with the murder of Benjamin Binkowitz, a Wall Street messenger, who disappeared in August with $178,000 worth of bonds, and whose body was later found in Milford.

From the office of the coroner a statement came that both Greenleaf and Worden had been detained as witnesses and Sergeant Virelli had served on them a coroner's subpoena and not a coroner's warrant, as first reported. On such a document as this one woman and two men are held in the jail in New Haven in connection with the Binkowitz case.

Greenleaf and Worden were taken to police headquarters after the former had completed an exhibition at billiards. They were held there during the night.

Pier Strike End Welcome News
on Animal Ship

Of all the strike-bound voyagers in this port none were more relieved when the longshoremen's strike ended than the passengers on the India, of the Royal Lloyd Belge, which is tied up at Eighteenth Street and the Hudson River. Nor is there a human being in New York more impatient to be off, now that the strike is over, than the howling, howling, twittering, hissing mob on the India.

For the India is a steam-driven Noah's Ark. She is loaded with 125 kinds of beasts, reptiles and birds, from bulldozes to humming birds. They were shipped from the New York Zoological Park in The Bronx and are destined for the Zoological Gardens at Antwerp, which were stripped during the war in the interests of food and safety.

Isidor Stein, twelve years old, didn't show up at school yesterday afternoon. Supper time came, but Isidor failed to appear at his home, 599 East 138th Street, The Bronx. Isidor is punctual at meal time, and his mother saw his brother Harry to look for him.

Harry found Isidor bound and gagged in the courtyard of the apartment house and screaming dismally. To his marvelling family and detectives who were summoned Isidor related his adventures. He was going to Abie Rock's house around the corner to borrow Abie's arithmetic when a man of gigantic stature and fearsome visage, dark and cruel, pressed a towel against Isidor's head, neatly bound his hands and gagged him in the mouth where he lay for two hours.

A neighbor who had hung out to wash in the yard fifteen minutes before Isidor was discovered assured the detectives that Isidor wasn't there then. A call on Abie Rock produced the information that Isidor had not been there and neither had he been at school.

WE SUPPLEMENT the Greatest Idea, which ever dignified Clothing, with the Greatest Assortment in Greater New York. As this is our first season in Ready-To-Wear Clothes, everything here is new, as befits a debutante. we are not running an Old Goods' Home, where discontinued models and rejected colors dream of a vanished vogue. The "Shapelee" and the "Stovepipe" Overcoats are our own ultra-exclusive custom innovations.

As concerns wear, most "Warmth-Without-Weight" Overcoats ought to be re-christened, "Warmth-Without-Wear." The nap rubs off from the soft, spongy wool around edges, pockets and sleeves. You don't catch Clemons Overcoats napping, because they are Long-Staple Pure Virgin Wool. They wear like sixty, even if the price amounts to a mere $40 or $50. Take Brown! Most clothiers show a handful—we show a storeful. That's because they are dependent upon what the clothing manufacturer doles out. We are independent of any manufacturer, having our own stocks of uncut woollens to draw upon for Complete-To-Wear Overcoats.

No end of Browns—and Greens—and Blues—and Grays—and every other color that they say is scarce. You won't say so when you see our rowing stocks.
